

Addiction is a chronic disease.
Recovery is an ongoing process.
Transitional Support Services (TSS) are an important component in the addiction treatment process.

Taunton TSS:

Short-term, non-smoking 44-bed 24-hour residential transitional support services program, providing structured, supportive services using intensive case management, structured psycho-education, and recovery-oriented milieu management.

Services include

- Psycho-educational groups
 - * Relapse prevention groups
 - * Health education groups
 - * Self-help groups
 - * Opioid overdose prevention
 - * 12 Step education
- Referrals to recovery-oriented settings, including residential rehabilitation services, supportive transitional and/or permanent housing programs, or community-based treatment and/or recovery services
- Monitoring client self-administered medications
- Recreational activities

Referrals received from

- Section 35 facilities (High Point in Jamaica Plain, Men's Addiction Treatment Center, and Women's Addiction Treatment Center)
- While beds are prioritized for Section 35, referrals are accepted from other programs, contingent on bed availability
