Children’s Behavioral Health Initiative (CBHI) Serves children & young adults up to age 21.

CBHI strengthens community-based resources and connects children and their families who may be facing extreme behavioral, emotional, and mental health concerns with the appropriate clinical interventions.

In-home therapy is led by a Master’s level or licensed clinician, in conjunction with therapeutic support and training and a therapeutic mentor.

Together, they create a medically necessary, intensive in-home therapy, which helps to build and recreate sustainable relationships between youth and family.
